DON'T LET A COUGH OR COLD "GO DOWN"

A head cold may merely make you feel miserable while it stays in your head. But when you feel a cough or cold tightening your chest and spreading towards young lungs, it is nearing the "danger zone."

Quickly and unfailingly Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops a cough and drives out the cold.

Hospital-Proved Medicine — not just a "cough syrup"! This medication penetrates through and through the irritated membranes—and is then absorbed into the blood itself. That is how its healing powers are carried to every part of your system.

If you are catching cold; if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! It has relieved more coughs and colds than any other medicine in the world.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is used by hospital clinics and leading physicians. Pleasant, safe and effective for children and grown people. At all druggists. Save 20 cents by getting the dollar bottle, containing twice as much as the 50c trial size. c50b

PARENTS LEARN AFTER 9 YEARS HOW SON DIED

Buddie Tells Details of Messenger's End in the Argonne Forest.

Coffeyville, Kan.—From the lips of the last man to see their son alive before he paid the supreme sacrifice in the bitter campaign against the tottering Hindenburg line in late September, 1918, in the Argonne forest, Mr. and Mrs. U. F. Griffith of this city have learned the fate of their son.

Ralph Griffith, a lad of seventeen, joined the colors at St. Louis the day after the United States entered the World war and was one of the thousands who lost their lives overseas but the story of his passing never was definitely known until recently.

Vernon Engles, a pre-war resident of New York city, since then a patient in a government hospital in California, called at the Griffith home, identified himself, and narrated to the parents the details of their son's death.

Was in Messenger Service. Griffith and Engles, with just two months between their ages, "buddied together" for several months. They were attached to the messenger service of a headquarters troop of the Thirty-fifth division, carrying messages to the front-line trenches and back to directing heads on motor cycles. Engles was disabled in the Argonne the day after Griffith was killed.

According to Engles, they had ridden hard with scanty fare and little sleep for three days, and stopped at a dugout late in the evening of September 23 to spend the night in safety from the enemy fire.

The Son Died.

At two o'clock the next morning a rider came to the dugout. He had an important message for the front and asked young Griffith to deliver it.

"For the first time in all his army days," Engles told Mr. and Mrs. Griffith, "Ralph hesitated. It appeared he didn't want to start on the errand. I believe he had a premonition that something dreadful lurked along the way for him. I volunteered to take it, but the rider said Ralph must make the trip."

The next day Griffith's shattered motor cycle was found not far from the dugout. It apparently had been run over by a truck, Engles said. Five months later the boy's body was found in a grave about 300 yards from the spot where the motor cycle had been found. Later it was disinterred and rests in a cemetery.

Engles suffered his injury the day after Griffith was killed, receiving 23 wounds in the right side. He has had 37 major operations and still limps. Engles said he contracted tuberculosis and left the government hospital for life in the open of Arizona.

Having recovered sufficiently to leave the Arizona climate, Engles is making his way home, and his visit to the Griffith family was the fulfillment of a promise to himself that sometime he would find his buddy's parents and tell them of his death.

Signet Ring Reaches Parents. Mr. and Mrs. Griffith had received various reports about the death of their son, and two years ago received from Antwerp, Belgium, a gold signet ring worn by him when he left home for the army. It was in a plain envelope and bore no explanation of how the ring reached Antwerp or how it came to be sent to his parents.

Engles satisfied Mr. and Mrs. Griffith that he was intimately acquainted with their son by his description of the dead youth. He also was acquainted with Capt. Edgar Dale, another Coffeyville youth who lost his life and for whom a concrete bridge two miles north of this city, on state highway No. 16, has been designated as a memorial.

MARLBOROUGH.

Marlborough, March 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Dunlop drove to Rye on Wednesday. They took their little daughter, Carol, to visit her aunt.

Mrs. E. Dickson has returned from Easton, Pa., where she has been caring for her sister, Mrs. Stately Myers, who has been ill.

Benjamin Harcourt of Poughkeepsie, formerly of Marlborough, spent several days in the village the past week. He and his son, Vernon, are soon to erect a new filling station on the road to Vassar College.

Wilson McLean is ill with the mumps.

Joseph McGuire was confined to St. Luke's Hospital the past week. He had blood poison in his arm.

Mrs. E. B. Warren spent the week end in Newburgh at the home of Mrs. Charles Masten.

Miss Lilly Benjamin has the mumps.

Mrs. Victor Froemel and niece, Miss Loretta Froemel, spent a few days with friends in Jersey City the past week.

A daughter was born on Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. James Fowler in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh.

Mrs. Robert Conn has returned home after spending two weeks at the home of her daughter Mrs. Lloyd Reese, in New York city.

Miss Mary Ryan of Newburgh spent two weeks at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Ryan, Sr.

TURNING TO SANITY.

Disappointment over the attitude and conduct of the Automobile Club of Ulster County, which has been felt very keenly, will be to some extent modified by the recent declaration of its officers that they are not opposed to a tax on gasoline or an increased tax on automobiles so long as all of the money received therefrom is spent on highway improvements and maintenance. The condition attached to the club's approval is silly and of no consequence and has nothing to do with the fact that automobiles do not now and never have paid their just share of taxation. Nevertheless, this partial retraction is a sign of the coming of sense to the club officials and is received with the joy due such a greatly desired change. Possibly the officials have been hearing from the members and those whom they had hoped to make members at $10 each.

When the club reorganized a few months ago and announced its policy they seemed some reason for the growth of a hope that it might justify its existence—something it had not been doing in several years. Heretofore the dues have been $5 a year and the receipts used principally for organization expenses, efforts to get new members and expense bills of propagandists and lobbyists attending conventions and buzzing around Albany. Under the new plan the dues were to be $10 a year and members were promised real service in return.

The proposition seemed simple: In the past members had paid $5 and received little beyond the knowledge that prodigious amounts of hot air were being expended for or against various laws affecting automobilists. In future they were to pay $10 and receive real and tangible service worth the money.

Unhappily for the future of the club, this new and worthy plan has been obscured during the past few weeks by thoughtless copying of the fulminations of the professional and salaried saviours of the automobilist who run the state organization and seem to think their great purpose in life is to oppose any effort to properly tax the automobile. They forget that many men who own automobiles also own other property which has to bear the burden of government costs that justly belongs to the automobile, whether its owner has other property or not. There is room for an automobile club that gives service and it is a better investment to pay $10 and get real service than to pay $5 and get mostly impassioned speeches. By turning in the right direction—at least part way—the club officials have at least made another bid for confidence.

MORE POWER FOR LOBBYISTS.

Pity the poor, bountied Congressman. As if it were not enough that an army of lobbyists should dog their steps to frighten and tempt in the ordinary ways, the remorseless pursuers now take an unfair advantage of them by appealing to their thirst. Such, at least, is the testimony of Basil Manly, who is described as "head of the La Follette staff" at Washington. Mr. Manly's rating of the average Congressman is not very high, for he says: "It costs no more to frighten legislators than to buy them—and it is much safer." But if he despises the bought he hands it to the buyers, characterizing them as "the third house of Congress"—the long arm of the Invisible Government—composed of "creatures of predatory wealth" who step at nothing. For example:

Patronizing the most exclusive, bootleggers who purport to supply only genuine "diplomatic stocks" of whiskey, gin and wine, they are like an army in the desert to thirsty soldiers in search of a drink. With the aid of their lady friends they can throw a lively party at one of the small roadhouses on a moment's notice, whenever an evening's entertainment seems desirable to bring some Senator or Congressman into line.

One almost expects Mr. Manly to conclude: "See what prohibition has brought us to!" Through he is, indeed, being so smart a political politician himself, he does not hesitate to show that lobbyists have found prohibition a great aid in their work. We read of the coming "Monday Lunch Club," where the principal lobbyists, representing the "vested interests," get together and compare notes and experiences in the business of bringing Congress into line. In former times these "creatures of predatory wealth" slipped about unobtrusively through the corridors of the Capitol, but now they walk boldly through the halls as if they owned them. The precise reason why "the third House" or "Invisible Government" has become bold as brass is not definitely stated, but one gathers that their powers of persuasion have been vastly increased. If intimidation or bribery fails, they have in reserve an additional inducement, and it would appear that few are the chosen representatives of a dry people who can command the power of further resistance—once they get a glimpse of the proffered "oasis in the desert to thirsty souls in search of a drink."

CURING DEAFNESS.

Despite the clever work of our ear specialists the amount of deafness in the world is very large indeed.

Now while children's diseases like measles and scarlet fever, are the cause of a great number of cases, nevertheless one big factor is that the drum of the ear does not get an equal pressure outside and inside. As you know, the entrance to your ear drum on the outside is by means of a canal about one inch long. On the inner side running up from the throat, is another small canal or tube, the eustachian tube, and this permits air to come in by the mouth and reach the ear drum from the inside.

Thus the drum is kept stretched or tense, just as in the drum of a band, which has an opening to permit air to reach the inner side of the drum. Some folks with deafness and noises in the head, have discovered that if they will hold the nose with the fingers, thus closing the nostrils, close mouth also, and then attempt to blow the air out through the closed nose and mouth, that the air will enter the eustachian or inner tube running up to the ear, open it up properly, allowing air to get to inner ear, that the hearing is restored and the noises disappear.

Many cases of deafness and head noises, have been corrected by removing the tonsils, because they had been pressing on the opening of the inner tube, eustachian tube, and not permitting it to remain open properly to allow air to drum from inner side.

However, although removing the tonsils gives brilliant results in the majority of cases, some cases show no improvement, and Dr. J. O. Denman of Toledo tells us that it is because there is a little depression in the throat beyond the tonsil which permits the growth of tissue resembling the tonsil. The pressure from this overgrowth of tissue pressing against the opening of the tube going up to the ear, either closes or partially closes it, thus preventing the air from getting up to inner side of drum. Infectious matter may be licked up in this groove also.

As it is rather beyond the reach of surgery, he reports in Clinical Medicine the use of the X-ray to shrink this tissue has been successful in his hands, and then he uses the ultra violet ray to destroy any organisms that may be present.

Some operators have been introducing the finger into the throat and endeavoring to dilate the opening of this inner tube thus permitting air to enter.

The whole point then in this form of deafness is that the inner tube must be opened up and kept open.

EDDYVILLE AND RIFTON CHURCH SERVICES SUNDAY

Dr. George B. Smith, Kingston district superintendent of the New York Conference, will preach at Eddyville on Sunday at 2 p. m. He will administer Holy Communion, assisted by the pastor, the Rev. Chicago Singer in Europe. Chicago, March 25 (AP).—Too many Americans think great singers have to come from abroad and cannot be produced at home. Miss Ethel Hottinger of Chicago believes. But European audiences, although more critical than those at home, judge a singer on merit and not on nationality, she says. Miss Hottinger went abroad after graduation from the University of Illinois and now is leading a group of the Geneva Opera Company of Switzerland. Later she has sung before League of Nations audiences.

WHY

Man Is Not Adapted to Long-Distance Running.

Long-distance running is unnatural for man. It has been decided by some doctors investigating the question, "For what kind of running is man naturally built?" A study of the muscular activities of primitive man has led to this conclusion.

In the primitive state he does not resort to it as a means of protection from wild beasts, which are little likely to attack him unless molested. Nor in his hunting expeditions is he called upon to run long distances for his method of hunting is essentially that adopted by most carnivores, I. e., by stalking. In short, under natural conditions man rarely, if ever, has occasion to run long distances. When trekking in search of fresh pastures he walks. Short-distance running serves most, if not all, his purposes, as in play and seeking shelter.

It would thus appear that long-distance running is not natural to man, and, such being the case, say the doctors, it is difficult to see what good purpose can be served by it, as regards either health or physique. It is evident that it must put considerable strain on the heart, since the vigorous rhythmic contractions of practically all the voluntary muscles of the body drive the blood into the right cardiac chambers in quantities many times greater than during rest or moderate exercise and unless the right ventricle is able to deliver its contents into the lungs with sufficient promptitude, dilation of that chamber is apt to ensue.

On the other hand, in games involving intermittent strenuous exercise, such as tennis, the heart is afforded ample opportunity to recover itself after each bout, and this game can be played with impunity for hours together by many people past middle life, provided the heart muscle is healthy and well equipped with blood, and provided, also, the arterial blood pressure is low.

Why Most Women Do Not Reveal Real Age

A possible explanation of woman's reluctance to tell her real age is offered by Thyra Samter Winslow in an article in Liberty. "A lot of women have deceived their husbands about their real age," she writes. "It doesn't seem possible to the male population, but the supposedly gentler sex will know that I'm right—though that may be one of the things they are not admitting to their own particular men, for reasons of their own. In fact, the same little wile who looks up into her husband's eyes and coos, 'Darling, I don't see how a wife can live with a man and not have him know her real age,' may be rather glad that her own husband believes her to be the age she says she is and doesn't do any real investigating to find out the truth.

"I've known many a girl to be one age one year and a good five years your or the next, when Mr. Right came along." Mrs. Winslow explains. "No real intention to deceive, of course; but must you tell a man everything? Mothers and sisters and a girl friend are only too glad to enter into a conspiracy and to assist in the deception of making the girl seem younger—and happier; and who cares whether a man knows the real age of the girl he's marrying?"

Why Ships Have Keels

Why has a big ship three keels? All big warships and large merchant vessels have, in addition to the ordinary keel at the bottom of the ship, two other keels, one on each side, below the water line which are known as bilge keels. They are fitted in order to reduce the rolling of the vessel, and their success in this is remarkable. Bilge keels add greatly to the comfort of passengers traveling by large ocean-going liners.

The bilge keels are sometimes three or four feet in width, and vary in length to nearly its total length. It was at first thought that bilge keels would reduce the speed of vessels, but this has been proved not to be the case.

Why Salmon Run Fall Off

The latest explanation of the fall-off of salmon runs in the Fraser river, Vancouver, during the last few years comes from a coastal Indian who believes that the salmon have been offended by the prevalence of jazz music. The women of the tribe, whose duty it is to sing soothing melodies from the banks of the river, have forgotten the old-time favorites of the salmon, and are resorting to the modern syncopated melodies. Meanwhile the salmon are believed to be taking refuge from jazz in mid-Pacific.

Why Wires "Hum"

The musical humming noise given off by telephone wires is produced by vibrations of the wires set in motion by the wind. The intensity of the humming is determined to some extent by the tightness of the wires and the distance between poles. The greatest noise is heard at the poles, the wood being set in vibration by the wires.

Why People Sing Flat

A defective musical ear is the chief cause. Much can be done to overcome this defect. Ear training exercises will help. Proper breath control is also beneficial. Learning to play some musical instrument is a good thing, and a knowledge of musical intervals will also assist the singer.

SOLONSON NEEDED FOR "WISDOM TOOTH" BY

London, March 25 (AP).—The wisdom tooth has come in for a new grilling at the hands of the House of Commons. The Joint Committee on Insurance and Social Services, composed of doctors.

The House of Commons has decided that the wisdom tooth is not so good and should be pulled. It is a functioning. It is contended, and the House has decided to pay for pulling it. It is never done any more on the ground that it is not so good as the wisdom tooth in the mouth of an insured person.

Doctors, however, take an opposite view of the matter. The wisdom tooth should be drilled and filled, not pulled, because it is where it is for a purpose, they say.

The courts may be asked to decide the point.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BONNIE'S DEVOTION

The little girl visiting Nancy had heard about Bunnie Bonnie and his devotion to his little mistress named Melly, so she asked Nancy if Daddy wouldn't tell her the story of Bunnie Bonnie that evening.

Daddy was very willing to tell the story. He loved talking about Bunnie Bonnie for Bunnie Bonnie was a wonderful little rabbit and Daddy was fond of rabbits.

The children had them for pets and were devoted to them, too.

Bunnie Bonnie's mistress spelled his first name of Bunnie as Bunnie so it would go nicely with Bonnie.

At the time of this story Bunnie was very young.

He had only just left home. His mother had been caught in a horrid, cruel trap and had been killed.

So Bunnie was left all alone.

His Daddy didn't care for such a little, ugly black-and-white rabbit, and his brothers and sisters considered themselves too grown-up for him," Daddy said.

Poor Bunnie was heartbroken at the loss of his mother rabbit, and the tears fell fast from his little pink eyes.

"A little girl named Melly happened to be taking a walk by herself. She was enjoying the wind and the cool air and thought walking was a splendid amusement.

He Seemed Hungry.

"Suddenly she spied the lonely Bunnie rabbit.

"Oh, you darling little Bunnie!" she called. "You look so lonely."

"Come with me. I've always longed for a pet Bunnie rabbit."

"I shall call you Bunnie Bonnie, and you'll come home and be my pet Bunnie, won't you?"

"Bunnie Bonnie, as we must now call him, couldn't answer in words, of course, but he nestled close in her arms as she picked him up.

"It felt so soothing to have someone one comfort him and pet him again.

"And Bunnie Bonnie lived in a home Melly had made for him in her own little garden.

"Melly still took many walks, but always brought back to Bunnie Bonnie a present.

"It was something to eat, as they were the presents Bunnie Bonnie loved best.

"But on one of these walks Melly wandered into the woods where the snow was melting and got her feet wet.

"When she came home she was sneezing frantically, and by evening she had developed a high fever and was aching all over.

"The next day she was so ill that the doctor had to be sent for.

"Melly's mother promised her that she would feed Bunnie Bonnie just the same as usual.

"But somehow Bunnie didn't feel hungry.

"He couldn't understand why Melly didn't come to him, and all day long he had no heart for playing.

"Melly's mother had tried to tempt Bunnie Bonnie with goodies to eat.

"But no, Bunnie Bonnie was a changed rabbit. He would not play and he would not eat, and finally Melly's mother decided she would take him into Melly's bedroom.

"So she took Bunnie Bonnie up in her arms and carried him into the house, and up into Melly's room.

"Never did you see such a changed rabbit. He bounded onto the bed and frisked and jumped about with joy.

"He plainly showed his joy. He was more than happy, for in his little rabbit way he had worried frightfully over the absence of Melly.

"He just got up by her on the pillow and nestled down by her shoulder.

"Then Melly's mother brought in some clover and Melly gave it to Bunnie Bonnie.

"And then he seemed hungry once more. Hungry, and very, very happy.

"His little nose wrinkled and wiggled with his great, great joy."

A Trick Number.

One of the queerest of numbers is 142857. It is a freak, and here is how: Multiply 142857 by 2. The answer is 285714. Notice that the product has the same digits as the original number although they have been shifted in order.

Now multiply 142857 by 3. The answer is 428571. Notice that the product is still made up of the same digits with only a shift in their order.

Try some more:

142857 x 4—Answer 571428.

142857 x 5—Answer 714285.

142857 x 6—Answer 857142.

In all of these the product is made up of the same digits, only shifted—not even jumbled.

Try 142857 x 7—Answer 999999.

Here the magic spell is broken, but the answer is still a queer one! Who can explain why 142857 is such a freakish number?

The poor boy may still cherish the ambition to become president, but he might as well abandon the idea of ever being a United States Senator.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CAR

Facts

that Draw Crowds and Sway Buyers

Little wonder Dodge Brothers Motor Cars today are accorded such widespread and enthusiastic commendation—

Smart new body lines and attractive color combinations—

A new seating arrangement that provides still more roominess and comfort—

A new clutch, simple, sure, silent—

Softer pedal action, easier gear shifting—

Quicker acceleration, still greater steering ease—

More rigid engine support—and smoother performance—

New, silent-type muffler—

Sturdiness and dependability made still more pronounced by vital betterments in body construction and in the propeller shaft, differential and axle shafts.

Add to these the new five-bearing chrome vanadium crankshaft, with its remarkable improvement in engine performance, the excellent new starting and lighting system and many other recent betterments, and you understand why owners proclaim today's car—

"The finest Dodge ever built!"

Women's Help in National Defense

Their Interest and Steady Influence Needed Because of People Who Made It Their Mission to Block the Boat, Says Davison.

Washington, March 25.—F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War, in an address delivered last night before the School of Politics conducted here by the League of Republican Women of the District of Columbia, urged that women throughout the country take special interest in the subject of national defenses.

"We maintain in this country a minimum military establishment not to invite but to discourage warfare," said Mr. Davison. "I believe that women, who during time of war shoulder terrific burdens, appreciate the need of well equipped, well trained peace time army and naval units. The Army Air Corps is the youngest branch of our country's defense forces and I earnestly ask that women, interested in adequate preparedness, give the Army Air Corps the support and encouragement it needs."

Mr. Davison then complimented women on the part they are playing in the management of the country's public affairs and added that their organizations have done much toward creating among voters in general an intelligent understanding of the problems of government.

What New York Has Done.

"In New York, my home state," he continued, "the Republican party has demonstrated in a practical way its appreciation of the beneficial influence of women in public life. We have had, and still have, woman representatives in the Legislature.
We have nominated women for elective state offices and only a fortnight ago the Republican majority in the Legislature placed a woman on the State Board of Regents."

"It is gratifying to know that women are given increased recognition in the conduct of public affairs. It is fitting this recognition should be given because the influence of women as a group upon the domestic life of a state or the nation is as wholesome and helpful as is the individual woman's influence upon the individual home. The position of women in political life is so important that 'the hand that rocks the cradle' has gradually become the hand that steers the ship of State. This steady influence is needed because there are any number of people who make it their mission to attempt to rock the boat.

Air Development Program.

"We have in this country a pronounced inferiority complex on our aviation development. Most of us are so busy paying attention to the flight activities of other nations that we give scant heed to our own work along these lines. The fact is that we are laying the foundation for Army and Navy air units which will provide this nation with effective air protection. The five-year air development program sponsored by President Coolidge, Congress and the War Department, calls for an Army
Air Corps of about 2,000 planes, with a personnel of 1,650 flying officers and 15,000 enlisted men, including about 500 flying cadets at the close of 1932."

"Even now the five-year air development program is being transformed from plans on paper to planes in the air. Legislation passed by the last Congress authorizes the purchase of 500 planes to cost more than twelve million dollars. Of these planes, 506 are to be used by the Regular Army and the remainder for National Guard, Reserve, and other military purposes.

America Not Lagging.

"We are told, ever so often, that this country lags behind other nations in air development, but 500 new planes in one year represents quite a volume of air power and is an adequate answer to those who stubbornly maintain that Uncle Sam's air equipment is neglected and antiquated."

"Of course, 508 planes cannot be provided in a day, but contracts have already been approved for 64 planes, including 20 attack planes and 9 amphibian planes. Thus, due to the encouragement given Army Air Corps development, we are bringing our air defenses up to a high standard as rapidly as common sense dictates and the public's pocket-book permits."

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

To be Heavily Smart, Even in Sport Clothes, One Must Wear Gloves This Season, and One Should Add a Rather Large Boutonniere, Preferably Shaggy.

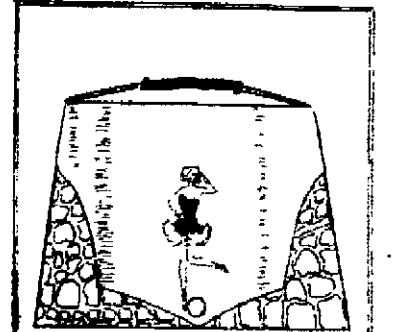

Palm Beach—It is quite impossible to judge of the relative values of style without comparing what is worn today with what was worn under similar circumstances a year ago. This is certainly true of reporting what is and what is not good at Palm Beach.

One of the striking features of this season, as compared to last, is the acceptance of the idea that one is not properly dressed unless one is gloved. Watching the dancers in the Coconut Grove or any of the places where one goes in Palm Beach for tea, one is immediately impressed by the fact that women wear gloves even while dancing. Washable gloves and wrist-length buttoned gloves prevail, either in white or black, with a tendency sometimes to match one's blond straw hat or patchwork shoes with one's suede gloves.

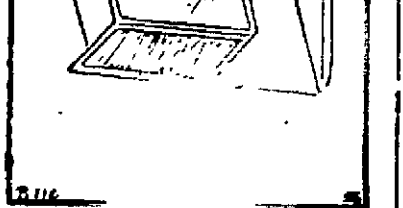

In the days when one wore elbow gloves, a type never seen now, and when one wore dress chignons and such things, to be ungloved was quite all right, but with coats, and with jumper dresses, which, in spite of their somewhat elaborate air, are tailored in effect, one feels the necessity of gloves. This appears to be one of the really interesting developments of the style situation here.

Another interesting detail is the wearing of artificial boutonnières with even the two-piece dress. Not the small compact gardenia, but rather, shaggy flowers, or a bunch of either white or purple violets. This and the fact that many two-piece dresses are bowed instead of buttoned at the neckline, makes for a softly feminine touch, aided and abetted by the general acceptance of the pleated skirt. The boyish note, which has been struck again and again in fashions, is decidedly lacking this season.

The KITCHEN CABINET

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

What seems to grow fairer to me as life goes by is the love and grace and tenderness of it, not its wit and cleverness, and grandeur of knowledge—grand as knowledge is—but just the laughter of little children and the friendship of friends and the cozy talk by the fireside and the slight of flowers and the sound of music.

—J. R. Green

HINTS WORTH NOTING

Nuts in the shell, which have become too brittle to crack without breaking, if treated to a bath of boiling water, will crack and seem like fresh nuts.

Keep the smallest bits of candle ends and put into a muslin bag. Use to polish the irons or keep the kitchen range bright.

If leaving an iron stove for any length of time grease it well all over with unsalted fat, to keep it from rusting.

A broom which is badly worn may be made to serve much longer if the stitching is ripped out below the top row. Trim the bottom and soak in soap suds, then dry thoroughly.

A bit of ginger added to doughnuts is said to keep them from soaking fat, but all other conditions for good doughnuts should be met. Fat-soaked doughnuts are wasteful of fat and indigestible to eat.

The amount of bacon to be used for seasoning may be lessened if it is put through the meat grinder before adding to the dish. It is thus more evenly mixed through the dish in this way. Slice bread put through the meat grinder, then browned in the oven, makes a fine breakfast cereal with milk. This is especially good for an invalid.

A run in silk hose, if not too long, may be taken back with a crochet hook. Old stockings cut round and round make fine rags for crocheted pillow tops. The silk hose with various colors are most attractive. The white ones may be dyed to get desired shades.

When making mayonnaise, if it curdles, beat another egg and drop the curdled mixture drop by drop into it, beating all the time; it will, if carefully done, blend well, then proceed to finish with more oil and lemon juice.

Lemons placed in the oven and heated will render their juice more freely.

Black Taffeta Is Much in Fashion

Many Lines to Choose From in Selecting Charming Afternoon Gown.

Everywhere that Mary goes this season she is apt to take with her at least one frock of black and at least one of taffeta, and, if she be wise in the ways of the mode, she will generally combine the two and have one very distinguished costume of black taffeta.

There are many lines to choose from in selecting the black taffeta afternoon gown. There may be a bouffant tendency or a very simple silhouette featuring an intricate cut. Simplicity generally marks the advent of the black gown and, very little in the way of trimming is added to its native smartness.

Color may, of course, be an added feature of the gown. If it be seen at all its mark of distinction is its artistic outline. A collar of cream lace, a vestee of shell pink, a brilliant blue ribbon, embroidered motifs of gold, colored thread stitching or any other simple means of adding another color note is always effective.

All black is, of course, much seen. And the combination of black and white is as pleasing to the sartorial senses this season as in past years.

The very full skirt that possesses an uneven hemline is much used in taffeta frocks. Waists are, of course, bound to be snugly fitted and sleeves have all manner of opportunities to make themselves important. The very long and bell-shaped sleeves, the tight-fitting sleeve terminating in a balloon shape are also in vogue while the bishop or butterfly sleeve enters into this season's point of interest.

Billie Dove, in "An Affair of the Follies," wears a black taffeta frock smartly appliqued in white broadcloth, with a bouffant skirt, fitted waist and balloon sleeves.

The Empty Head

It's a strange paradox that an empty head is sometimes full of the darndest things:

Suit could be of fur, fur cloth, oil cloth or eiderdown.

The pattern is cut in one size 18 inches long. The Doll requires 1/2 yard of material and the Suit 1/2 yard 36 inches wide.

The tender bran of the oat adds extra value to this nourishing food

Often cereals lose much of their natural value through being too highly refined. Children especially need the tender bran as it is found in Quick Mother's Oats, and that is one reason child health specialists approve it so highly.

A bowl of Quick Mother's Oats and milk is rich, too, in vitamins and minerals indispensable for sound, normal growth. And a cup of each a day supplies 25% of the disease-building protein a growing child must have.

And how children love the natural whole-grain flavor!

For many years the careful mothers of Quick Mother's Oats have studied ways of milling to keep this flavor—and to make a fine, even meal that cooks up always the way you like it—smooth and even.

So that mothers who realize the importance of animal on a "growth food" find in this 50-year-old brand a quality they can always trust.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2 1/2 to 3 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with Aunt Jemima coupons, for lovely linens, curtains, jewelry.

SARATOGA STATE HEALTH WATERS

State Commission Says Geyser Steps Acidity, Hathorn Corrects Faulty Elimination

The famous medicinal springs at Saratoga, now the property of New York State, can no longer be exploited by private interests. Each water is regularly analyzed by State chemists. The State Conservation Commission indicates what benefits may be derived from the use of each Saratoga Spring Water.

For example, Saratoga natural Geyser water is specifically beneficial in reducing acidity of the stomach, often caused by the eating of too much rich, soft foods, especially meats, starches and sweets. Acidity may give rise to many complications which disappear when the acidity is neutralized by the drinking of sparkling, delicious Geyser water with meals.

Saratoga Natural Hathorn water is a natural laxative. Taken at least half hour before breakfast, it thoroughly cleanses the system. It is most delightful in taste and effect. It brings a wonderful feeling of relief and buoyancy and relaxation.

Please today for convenient Economy Case of Geyser and Hathorn of Borel Geyser Co., Joseph S. Borel and other good dealers.

Joseph Kosteki while Mr. Kosteki is in New York on business.

Mrs. George Brown is entertaining guests from Brooklyn, Miss Hanrahan and Miss McCarren, for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weimar were given a surprise party recently by their friends. The occasion was their wedding anniversary and Mr. Weimar's birthday. Dainty refreshments were served and all had a delightful time. Mr. and Mrs. Weimar received some very pretty and useful presents. Among the guests were Mrs. William Engleman, Mrs. Carl Lenn, Mrs. Joseph Kosteki, Mrs. Alonzo Sagar, Mrs. Richard Sagar, Mrs. Andrew Hoffman and Henry Hoffman. All left wishing their host and hostess many more happy anniversaries.

The W. L. U. will hold its meetings every Thursday. The following officers were elected: President, Gertrude Lohm; vice-president, Janice Blumburg; secretary, Katherine Clearwater; treasurer, Lillian Blumburg. The honorary members are Betty Cook, Ruth Hotaling, Margaret Collins and Mary Yannai.

Mrs. George Sagar is spending some time with relatives in Poughkeepsie.

DRY BROOK.

Dry Brook, March 24.—J. Frank Fairbairn, who was ill for a few days, is now able to be out.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamouree Stewart and sons of Turnwood were guests of his parents on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong, Jr., are rejoicing over the arrival of a little daughter at their home on March 15, who will answer to the name of Phyllis Jean.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Todd have moved from the Basil Todd cottage to their home, Pleasant View Farm. Mrs. Vann, a trained nurse from Roxbury, is caring for Mrs. George Armstrong, Jr., during her illness.

Two Kayos Scored At Community Center Smoker

Charlie Fisher Scores Technical Knockout Over Willie Jackson and Joe Vosdick Kayos Al Berry—Father Hogan's Athletic Carnival Big Treat for Fans.

A capacity crowd at the Jewish Community Center last night saw Charlie Fisher, clever local boxer, overwhelm Willie Jackson of New York City, beat him until he was groggy, then with a terrific shower of blows, dropped him to his knees in a semi-conscious condition in the middle of the fourth round. It was a technical knockout. Seconds gave a helping hand to Jackson and he walked from the ring without aid although unsteady.

Jackson was game to the end, he didn't know how to quit, but he was hopelessly outboxed by Charlie, who left the ring apparently as fresh as he had entered. Fisher was smiling all the time. It was easy to see that he was only playing with a weaker opponent and waiting the opportune moment to end the fight. The crowd sensed a knockout and clamored for the thrill.

CHARLIE FISHER.

Round One: Met in the center and exchanged light blows. Both clinched. Another rapid exchange and a hug, no damage. Charlie clipped a light one on Jackson's chin. Both swung hard but without result. Again light taps were exchanged and a clinch. Willie danced around and hit Charlie a soft one on the face and one to the body. They were clinching at the bell. Even.

Round Two: They both danced to the center, exchanged harmless blows, clinched and broke away. A fast mixup followed, Fisher gaining small advantage, but Jackson appeared to be slowing up. Charlie rushed, raining blows to chin and body and then followed several clinches by Jackson. Willie countered with couple light ones to chin. A sledge hammer drive to the head floored Willie as the gong rang.

Round Three: Jackson was clearly tired. Fisher rushed and Jackson clinched. Again Fisher rushed and Jackson slipped and fell hard on one knee. It was the turning point. Charlie showered terrific punches to kidneys. Jackson covered up best possible and took it. He couldn't hit back and was groggy at the bell. Fisher still fresh.

Round Four: Charlie rushed, Jackson held on. Charlie beat him unmercifully. Jackson swayed in the corner, dropped to his knees, clearly unable to offer any resistance. Referee Cashin knew his business, he stopped the bout. His action met with the approval of the crowd. Fisher weighed 152, Jackson 150.

Vosdick Kayos Berry.

JOE VOSDICK.

In the semi-final six round bout, Joe Vosdick furnished the fans with a real sensation, knocking Al Berry cold in the fourth round. The Albany lad had a two pound advantage on Vosdick, but that was all. It was a hard, clever, almost even battle until the fourth round. But the Saugerties opponent showed better head work and ring generalship, which the game fighter facing him could not fathom.

Round one: They danced to the center, commenced to spar lightly. Berry rushes, rained several blows which Vosdick turned harmlessly aside. Joe landed a smack on the nose, and light one to Berry's face. The rest of the round was a foot work exhibition, honors even.

Round two: Al lands hard one to the face. Joe stabs one on Berry's face and two hard ones to the body. Both exchange punches. No damage. Joe sends light one to head. Al clinches at the bell. Joe's round, by a shade.

Round three: Berry slams crushing blow to face. Joe counters with light one to head, and two terrific wallop on the jaw. Several exchanges and Al clinches. They were swapping light ones at the bell. Joe's round, by a shade.

Round four: Each taps the other easy. Al has slowed up. Joe rushes, pumps powerful blows to the body. Al hangs on the ropes. Joe follows, up, slashing vigorously. Berry retelling groggy, guard open. A terrific one on the jaw sends Berry to the canvas for the count of 8. Joe knocks Al almost through the ropes, and with a sledge hammer blow, stretches him on the canvas. It was a clear knockout for Vosdick. Seconds brought Berry around in a few minutes and he walked unaided from the ring, breathing heavily.

Freileigh Beat Werner.

In another four round affair, Marty Freileigh, 155 pounds, pushed Joe Werner, 149 pounds, all over the ring. Few real hard blows were delivered. The first round displayed fine dancing, with no blows of importance. Marty's superior strength and weight moved Joe to all corners of the ring. In the second round, Marty hit Joe a wild clip on the ear, which knocked him off his feet but did no damage. Marty was punishing him slightly at the bell. In the third round there was a slight exchange of blows and the usual pushing of Werner. The fourth round was a repetition, and they were giving a wrestling exhibition at the bell, Marty's fight.

The Other Exhibitions.

Jack Rose, 152 pounds, and Johnny Clary, 155 pounds, went round the ring exchanging light taps, "loving each other immensely," the final bell ending the four round set, slightly favoring Rose.

Kid Buck of Popkessie and Ray Van Buren fought a live 4-round war, with Van Buren outpointing Buck most of the way. Buck kept working at the kidneys without much success. Van Buren centered his attack at the head. It was an entertaining bout.

Hertica and Myers fought a good four round battle with honors falling Hertica. Hertica drew blood on Myers's nose in the second round. The struggle ended without any material damage on either side.

Efficient Officials.

Eddie Cashin refereed all the bouts and his work again was appreciated by the fans. Ed Scherer, jolly announcer, filled the moments that might have been dull with roars of laughter with his jokes.

Sports Carnival Big Hit.

The premier attraction at the Jewish Community Center Thursday night was the Athletic Carnival put on by 14 of Father Hogan's boys of Ballston Spa. The outstanding feature of the carnival was a hand-balancing act by Willie and Eddie Smith, brothers, who performed in a manner becoming stars of the best vaudeville circuits. After they introduced the wares which the club of Father Hogan were capable of producing the other 14 lads stepped to the middle of the ring and boxed two minute rounds, alternately, until all had exhibited fast boxing and foot work for several rounds. Gymnastics were also included in their show. A Battle Royal was staged at the conclusion of their performance and the fans were especially pleased with the way in which the youngsters conducted themselves.

In the art of self defense the "kids" proved real ability and their blocking, landing of socks, and the enthusiastic way in which they worked to please the on-lookers sure did gain the favor of the audience.

Eddie Campbell, a lad of about nine years old, did the directing and his manner manifested much ability in the athletic line.

The carnival had its own announcer, Jackie Brown, "the Joe Humphries of Northern New York State" as he is known. Brown is a man who has followed athletic events for many large newspapers covering a period of years and did his act in real fashion. He was cleverly presented to the fans by the Kingston favorite announcer, Eddie Scherer.

Father Hogan An Athlete.

Mr. Brown gave a short description of Father Hogan's athletic career. He said that the priest was one of the best all-round athletes ever produced by Niagara University and while playing on the baseball team of that institution was offered a berth on the Philadelphia Athletics nine by Connie Mack but refused the diamond career for one of the cloth. He is a personal friend of both Gene Tunney and Mike McTigue.

Indeed if it had not been for the good standing of Jimmy Betts with the director, Father Hogan, the Athletic Carnival would not have been presented in Kingston for four other engagements had to be cancelled in order to come to Kingston. Betts at one time managed Vince Coffey and he was referred to by Jackie Brown as the manager of the next world's heavyweight champion.

RECENT EVENTS IN REALM OF SPORT.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—A sprinter of championship ability is being tutored on the University of Michigan track, but he will never wear the colors of the Wolverines. R. A. Robb, a Scotch youth, is studying insurance at Michigan on a scholarship. Because he has a degree, won at the University of Glasgow, he is barred from intercollegiate competition. Once sprinting champion of West Scotland, Robb has gained speed since American coaching accelerated his starting style, and lately he won from Murchison in a match race.

Tampa, Fla.—"Dollar, dollar," is an expression heard many times during practice periods in every baseball training camp in the south. It is a challenge from the batsmen to the fielder and indicates a willingness of the hitter to wager a dollar that the fielder does not catch the ball just batted. It does not mean anything, in fact, as no bets are ever made.

Ithaca, N. Y.—"A scuttle of salts and a good swift kick," is the remedy recommended by Frank Sheehan, veteran trainer of Cornell University's "Big Red" football teams, for suicidal moping among college students. "Now, if a student has anything busted," Sheehan says, "or is running a temperature, or has a pain that keeps on in the same place, you don't want to take chances. But if he just thinks himself and other little things important—well, I just give him a scuttle of Epsom salts and a good swift kick. Then I send him out on the field for a week and he's all right in no time."

Oxford, Eng.—Bayes M. Kest, captain of the 1926 Yale track team, is one of several Americans who represent Oxford in its annual race with Cambridge March 26. Now a student at University College here, won the 70 yard dash in scratch in 7.2-5 seconds in the 300 yard run. Norton, another American were selected the Achilles Athletic Club, an old club of Oxford and Cambridge, to represent it in two races, April 10 and 14.

YOUNG JUDEANS TO PLAY AT AMSTERDAM

Saturday afternoon the Young Judeans will travel to Amsterdam to meet the strong Lightning Club of that place. A few weeks ago Judeans played the Amsterdam team down here and defeated it by the score of 25-13.

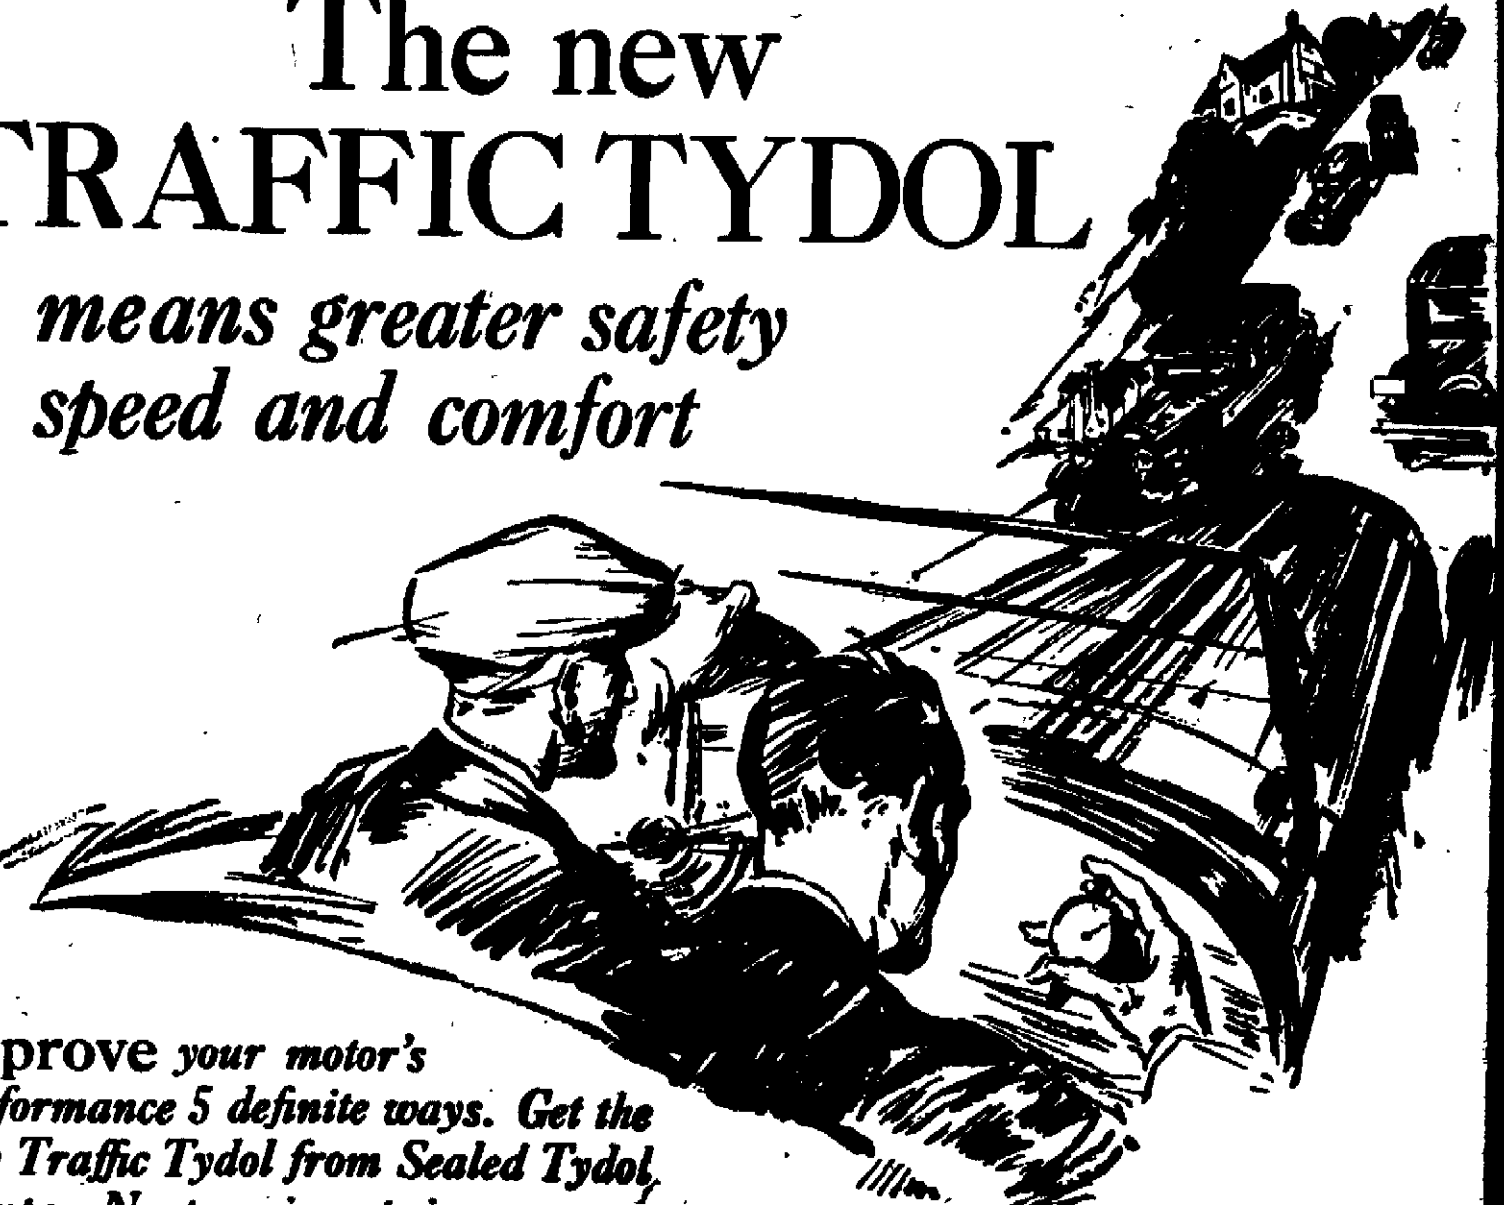

The Young Judeans will have a very hard time against the upstart but hope to bring home the honor. The Young Judeans are starting 10:30 from the Hebrew School on Post street. There will be a number of local fans going to the game.

The new TRAFFIC TYDOL

means greater safety
speed and comfort

Improve your motor's performance 5 definite ways. Get the new Traffic Tydol from Sealed Tydol Pumps. No premium price.

ON a Saturday or a Sunday, doesn't it often seem as though all of the country's twenty-one million cars are on the same road you have chosen? Cars, lines of them, turning, backing, slowing down, speeding up.

No wonder emergencies constantly pop up in such traffic. To meet these emergencies you need more than skill and good brakes.

You need a new type of motor-fuel,—not just a "good" gasoline, not a special-feature gasoline, but a gasoline that makes these 5 improvements in the performance of your motor. First, split-second starting. Second, rushing pick-up. Third, great reserve power for emergencies. Fourth, elastic power to reduce gear-shifting. Fifth, anti-knock qualities to keep a motor quiet and sweet-running.

This gasoline is now offered to the motoring public in the New Traffic Tydol. Impartial tests made by professional car demonstrators proved the New Traffic Tydol superior to other gasolines in the 5 essentials demanded by modern traffic. The improvement this new gasoline makes in a motor's performance is so apparent that you can easily confirm those tests in your own car. Test Traffic Tydol today!

The New TRAFFIC TYDOL means

1. FASTER STARTING
2. QUICKER PICK-UP
3. MORE POWER
4. LESS GEAR-SHIFTING
5. REDUCES KNOCKING

Above facts proved in impartial, step-by-step tests. New Traffic Tydol compared with seven other gasolines. Tests made by 16 professional demonstrators in following cars, picked at random.

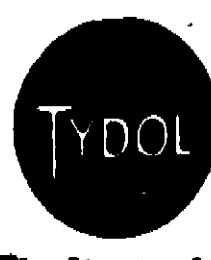

Ford	Chevrolet	Dodge	See "G"	Franklin	Whipple-Knight	Studebaker

New Traffic Tydol earned 66 out of possible 70 first place in tests made on 5 separate points. Unanimous choice of all 16 demonstrators to test all around gasoline.

CHIEF HONORED, THEN EXECUTED

Chinese Justice Moves
Swiftly in Case of Convicted Traitor.

Harbin, Manchuria.—Steele and prosperous, smiling at the recollection of the honors just heaped upon him at the capital city of Mukden and happy to be back in his home city, where he owned a luxurious mansion, where he was a heavy investor in real estate and a theater magnate, and where his Russian wife was awaiting him, General Yang-chao, the Chinese vice president of the Chinese Eastern railway, alighted from his special car here one morning recently.

The next morning his body lay in a rude coffin set out on the bleak plain at the edge of the city used as a garbage dump. The wealth that was his was confiscated to the coffers of Chang Tso-lin. His titles, rank, and positions were stripped away and he died before a firing squad, a convicted traitor.

Such is the way justice moves in China.

Was Backed by Moscow.
Information had reached Chang Tso-lin that the man he had trusted and placed in high office in Harbin was plotting a revolution, had received a large sum of money to carry out his plan from Moscow, and had betrayed China to Russia in matters connected with the Chinese Eastern railway. This information came to Chang through the Japanese secret service.

The suspected general was accordingly invited to Mukden to confer with Chang Tso-lin, who entertained him and generally kept him busy long enough for the Harbin Chinese military authorities to seize his wife, search his house, and secure documentary and other proof of his guilt.

He was arrested just as he was stepping into his limousine and hurried to military headquarters, where a special court-martial, sent secretly from Mukden by Chang Tso-lin, was already sitting on his case.

Admits His Guilt.
He was confronted with the documentary evidence seized, broke down, and confessed. Sentence of death was passed upon him, confirmed by telegram by Chang Tso-lin, and carried out during the night, the firing squad consisting of a single soldier, who put a bullet into the traitorous general's head at close quarters, shooting by the light of a lantern held close to the condemned man's face by another soldier.

The exact details of the plot in which General Yang-chao was engaged have not been made public. One report is that he was about ready to launch a revolution, establish the Communist state of Manchuria, and proclaim himself its first president.

Yang-chao had been known to every foreigner in North Manchuria. He was well educated, spoke English and Russian perfectly, attended most of the dances given in Harbin and entertained extensively in his beautiful home. Recently he bought a controlling interest in Harbin's three largest moving picture theaters and had announced his intention of starting a string of such theaters throughout the cities of both north and south Manchuria.

A Modern Fable
Once there was a man who honestly admitted he couldn't do any better than the other fellow.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Saturday, March 26.

"A Marriage Has Been Arranged" is the name of the one-act comedy which the WEAF Players will present at 7:00 Saturday night. At 8:10 WBZ and KDKA will broadcast one of the very popular regular features when the Boston Symphony Orchestra will play under the direction of Serge Koussevitzky. KUP will radiate excerpts from "Eugene O'Neill" for a unique highlight at 8:35, and ten minutes later the New York Philharmonic Orchestra will entertain from station WJZ. "The Girls' Glee Club of Ashbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky, will be on the air from station WJW at 8:45 and again at 9:20, with dance music mixed in between the vocal numbers. The nation-wide observance of Koussevitzky's centennial anniversary will be brought to a fitting close on Saturday night at 9:50 when Walter Damrosch, director of the New York Symphony Orchestra, assisted by a vocal quartet of outstanding soloists, will broadcast the greatest of the composer's work, the "Ninth Symphony," through WEAF, and other stations. The Radio City Orchestra, at midnight KPO and KFI will interpret a classical program which will be played in the well-known Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, for an outstanding feature from the coast.

That Follow the Slim Silhouette

$7.95 to $40.00

Smartness as Paris sees it is typified in our collection of new spring coats which follow the charm, grace and distinction that is embodied in the modish slim tailored effects that Paris has sponsored for spring and summer. Of lightweight fabrics—poiret twills, satins, crepes, and bengaline—one of these coats will give a great deal of summer comfort.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Radio reception has been poorer than it was Thursday night, but not much. There was a tendency to fidgeting, gurgling and clattering sounds, in addition to weak signals. The Big Three were good and generally clear. A late hour Cincinnati, Chicago, Cleveland, Atlanta and Davenport could be heard whispering and muttering, but results were far from pleasing. Afternoon reception from EAF and WJZ was excellent.

It is not about time WDBZ awakened from its nap and put on a program. Those in charge of the Spring display Week seem to have overlooked a good bet in not using the station.

Massachusetts Town

Has Only Crier, Eighty

Provincetown, Mass.—Eighty years old, full of vigor, and possessing a clear and loud voice that rings over the rooftops and through the great houses of Hyannis and Yarmouth, Walter Smith enjoys the distinction of being the only town crier in the United States.

"I am the only town crier left," he remarked rather proudly, "and when I'm done ringing I don't know what this town is going to do. No one can succeed me. A young fellow tried to compete with me last summer, but you couldn't make out a word he said, and besides he carries a little dinner bell."

What does he cry about? "Well," Smith went on, "in February I announce all the special meetings laid over by the town. Mostly funerals in winter."

"In summer I mostly cry for dances gotten up by these artist people who come down here painting boats and fish."

GIRL TEACHES DUMB TO TALK

Most Stammering and Muteness Due to Nervousness, She Says.

San Diego, Calif.—If children stammer, stammer, slip, talk like babies, or fail to talk at all, charge it to nervousness, hurry or lack of self-confidence. At least, Miss Emma Knudson, former University of Minnesota and University of California girl, has found these to be the chief causes of the fault named.

She conducts classes here, and has found that a startling number of children need speech correction, and that nearly all of their troubles are psychological—or "imaginary."

Miss Knudson—"mother teacher," her children call her—begins by having her charges relax completely. While they listen with closed eyes she calms them by describing in a restful voice some quiet scene, assuring each that he has the power to speak without stammering or other impediment.

No Fuss About It. When actual work starts there is no nervousness, no fuss, no excitement. The children begin by repeating in a chorus of whispers, enunciating slowly and carefully, various phrases.

There are individual tests, each stammerer (if that is the affliction), rising and repeating a verse or answering in his own words a question. The lesson soaks in well, for seldom does a speech impediment appear during a session.

The class in "pronunciation difficulties" offers some interesting side-lights also. Some children cannot pronounce the sibilant "s," and instead slip a "th" or "f." Some use the "f" sound for the "th." Some will use "th" for "s," others "ah" for "ch."

"Of course, the method in the case of each child is different," says Miss Knudson, "because each is different. However, there are certain fundamental things done in every case."

"The first thing is to determine whether the defect is due to a physical handicap. If a physical defect is discovered that is remediable by the school nurse and the doctor, they are notified. Otherwise, I try to overcome the defect by education."

"In each case, the child is shown how to form letters and syllables by an exaggeration of the movements by the teacher. Then the child attempts to imitate the movements."

"Always there is a minimum of attention called to the child, chief attention being fixed on what is being accomplished."

As to Mutes. "In the case of mutes, I have found no physical deformities and the children are normal mentally. It seems to be a case of laziness of the child or the parents."

"The little fellows who cannot talk begin at the beginning and learn to make the individual sounds that go to make up the language. They all understand what is said, but make no effort to reply except by nods or shakes of the head. Even their voices have to be educated, for they had not been used."

The importance of overcoming speech defects in children, Miss Knudson points out, cannot be overemphasized. Stammering or wrong emphasis or stuttering makes them self-conscious, often to be disliked by their comrades. They develop inferiority complexes that will make the speech worse and will handicap them in other ways.

These things can be overcome, she would have mothers know, usually through a few short lessons.

Shawl for Evening Wear

A shawl or scarf is now indispensable with an evening costume and many new styles are shown. One is made of a square of metallic brocade with a fifteen-inch fringe of plain georgette. Another is a figured lame bordered with wide metallic lace. Some interesting kinetic designs are shown, and some in various pretty flower patterns embroidered on crepe.

PEP!

It's more fun and much more profitable to raise strong, healthy, chubby, happy children. For they develop into sturdy, successful men with the first sounds.

If you want your child to grow quick, healthy, strong—to resist all sorts of bad habits, by weakness, etc., give them this health-building food that supplies everything for flesh, bone and mind.

The original baby food for baby children.

First American Flag Displayed in Warfare

It is perhaps little known that the first American flag displayed "at war" was raised by Colonel Wyse, commander of the Royal Navy, on the USS "Arcton" in 1776. This flag was a replica of the first striped flag, known as "Washington's" and was hoisted over the USS "Arcton" at the Battle of the Clouds on June 10, 1776. The flag was a blue field with thirteen stars and thirteen stripes. It was the first flag to be hoisted on a ship in the service of the United States. The flag was hoisted on the USS "Arcton" at the Battle of the Clouds on June 10, 1776. The flag was hoisted on the USS "Arcton" at the Battle of the Clouds on June 10, 1776. The flag was hoisted on the USS "Arcton" at the Battle of the Clouds on June 10, 1776.

"A picturesque incident in the life of the first stars and stripes was in a military engagement," said Mr. Ames, "The Revolutionary flag of thirteen stars with a circle of thirteen stars was adopted by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, but the statute was not officially promulgated until the third of the following September. Meanwhile a copy of an Albany newspaper describing the flag had fallen under the eye of a Continental officer from Massachusetts on his way with reinforcements to Fort Mifflin. He was at Fort Mifflin, where the flag was hoisted, on the day of Sept. 26, 1777. He arrived at 3 p. m. on Sept. 26, and very opportunely, too, as it turned out. For the British attacked the fort the following morning, which was Sunday. Before the end of the day the garrison had run up the first American battle flag. White stripes from shirts and hospital bandages adorned with red stripes made from the green material of a soldier's wife. A blue banner was improvised from the military coat of one Capt. Abraham Swarton, who, a year later, wrote to the commander of the fort requesting 'an order of the committee to supply me, as promised, with eight yards of broadcloth in lieu of my blue coat which was used for colors at Fort Mifflin.'—Everybody's Magazine.

Growth of Grandma

"Bugs, now from" says the Charleston News and Courier, "was on his way to visit his grandmother, whom he had not seen for more than a year. 'Grandma,' he remarked, 'being a slender little boy, I'll bet grandma has grown so I won't know her.'—Boston Transcript.

Clothes in the Discard

The people of Europe have just discovered that they have been wearing too much clothing and they have jumped to the other extreme and 3,000,000 of them are now in a nudist cult. They are swimming without bathing suits, running naked over the hills and doing calisthenics without a thread of clothing. It began in Germany with a health movie called "The Way to Strength and Beauty." This told of recent discoveries made by scientists concerning the wonderful effects of sunshine on the human body. For the first time many heard about ultra-violet light, those invisible rays in sunshine that increase the percentage of lime and phosphorus in the body fluids and increase resistance to disease. Now thousands of them are members of swimming clubs, athletic organizations, walking clubs and many others, all with the avowed object of discarding their clothing as far as possible.

Writing by Wireless

It will soon be possible for messages transmitted by wireless telephone and telegraph to be reproduced in facsimile. For over a year experiments have been conducted by Mr. G. M. Wright, an Englishman, who now announces that his system is nearly complete. Wireless messages will soon be transmitted and received in the sender's handwriting.

This method will result in a great saving in time and lessen costs, for instead of preparing and developing the sensitive plates by which the present photograph and facsimile writing is transmitted, it will be possible to place the original writing direct into the transmitting apparatus. This will be reproduced at the other end almost simultaneously.

Reject Mail Delivery

Most American communities begin early to try to prove to Uncle Sam that they are grown up and should have their mail brought to their doors. But in California is a community that does not want its mail delivered. In Carmel-by-the-Sea the property owners recently voted no to mail delivery. The fact is that the town is an artist community and the residents enjoy the primitive way of going after their mail. Another consideration is that the government requires sidewalks to be laid as the first step to free delivery and the residents do not want to lay sidewalks.

Boss: Why can't you read that part of your shorthand notes?
Steno: Don't you remember? That's where you tickled me.

Heroes Escape Death Twice

Here is the first picture to reach this country of the heroic airman, under command of Major Borges (left), who flew from South America almost to the coast of Africa, fell in the water, swam ashore, became prisoners of wandering Moorish tribes, and escaped death again by promising a reward for their return to civilization. With Borges are shown (left to right) Captain Glauco, Captain Ibarra, and Mechanic Rigli.

So many favorable comments come in each week concerning the Mohican "News Ad" that one would almost imagine that this is the best read feature of the newspaper. How carefully they are read is illustrated by the fact that this week a shrewd customer repeated off hand the weekly variations of a single item which has fluctuated with the market from week to week. And this customer also indicated the total amount she had saved by buying it at the Mohican. This by the way illustrates how closely the Mohican watches the markets and turns over to its customers the savings it makes by buying volume quantities for all its stores.

Dr. Hillis Library For City Hospital

The late Dr. Christopher J. Hillis was the possessor of an unusually fine medical and surgical library, comprising many complete sets of the best known authors and many books on special subjects pertaining to medicine, which are of great value, particularly so as Dr. Hillis took pride in adding from time to time the most modern books on these subjects.

There is also a fiction library consisting of standard books and also those by more modern authors.

Mrs. Hillis has given this library in its entirety to the Kingston City Hospital to be installed in the board room of the new building, where it can be used as a reference library by physicians of this city. The books of fiction will be in the new nurses home.

These two libraries will be known as the C. J. Hillis Library, will be kept intact as a memorial and will form the nucleus of a library which the hospital authorities hope to soon expand through other gifts of books and cash.

The board of managers at its last meeting passed a resolution of thanks and appreciation to Mrs. Hillis for this valuable gift.

MEYER BUYS ROBINSON JEWELRY BUSINESS

An important change in the watch-making and jewelry business in Kingston is in the making and will be in effect by the first of April. Richard Meyer, who has conducted a jewelry store with a European steamship ticket agency in connection at 569 Broadway and 40 John street, has purchased the stock of Conrad Robinson at 30 John street, corner of Fair street, in what is known as the Opera House building, and has leased the store for a period of five years with a privilege of renewal. The lease is to take effect on April 1. Mr. Meyer will close his Broadway store and the small store at 40 John street, and combine the two stores with the Robinson store at 30 John street, and continue his steamship ticket agency there. He is arranging a sale to be launched shortly.

Sapiro's Demands Had No Effect

Cameron Laid Sapiro's Demand for Retraction Before Ford, Who Dismissed It With a Wave of the Hand.

Detroit, March 25 (P).—Aaron Sapiro's demand upon the Ford-owned Dearborn Independent for retraction of alleged offensive articles made no difference in the weekly's editorial procedure, William J. Cameron, editor, testified today. In Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford.

Cameron testified that he laid Sapiro's demand for a retraction before the automobile manufacturer, who also is president of the company, and that Ford dismissed it with a wave of the hand, and the remark: "Well if you are wrong, take it back; if you are right, stick to it."

Cameron testified that the alleged libelous articles were investigated before publication, and that he thought Fred L. Black, business manager, initiated an investigation after receipt of Sapiro's demand for retraction. The editorial department made no investigation, said Cameron.

"We can and will prove that these articles were suspended until April 12, 1924, at Henry Ford's order," Sapiro's counsel told the court, but he was halted before he could complete it.

A moment later, he referred to the subject again with "Mr. Ford did not discuss resumption of these articles."

Defender

Ward Choate, well known attorney, was one of the several men attempting to protect Henry Ford's wealth from the onslaught of Aaron Sapiro's libel suit, in Federal Court at Detroit. Sapiro claimed he was libeled in articles in Ford's magazine, which attacked Sapiro's method of organizing farm co-operatives. (International Newsreel)

Albany, N. Y., March 25 (P).—The Westchester charter bill, to establish a complete new county government form in Westchester, passed the Assembly unanimously today. It now goes to the governor for action, having previously passed the senate.

WEINER TO DIE WEEK OF MAY 2

New York, March 25 (P).—Robert Weiner, recently convicted of first degree murder in connection with an attempted escape from the toms in which two prison employees were killed and three prisoners committed suicide, today was sentenced to die the week of May 2 in the electric chair at Sing Sing.

Steel Worker Killed.

New York, March 25 (P).—John Klinckham, 26 years old, known throughout the country as a "fitter," was killed today when the wind and his weight toppled an iron support on which he was standing and hurled him six floors to the street. His widow lives at Parkville, N. Y.

Kantrowitz, Boy Convicted.

After remaining in an unconscious condition for over a week, Sidney Kantrowitz, of No. 92 Broadway, who was knocked down in an auto accident, is now conscious at the Kingston City Hospital and his condition appears to be somewhat improved. He sustained a fractured skull when struck by the automobile.

Seating Club Ends.

Albany, N. Y., March 25 (P).—Activities of the legislative seating club came to an end with the adjournment of the Legislature today. The seating club is composed of the wives of members of the Legislature and of the heads of state departments.

In memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Theophilus Wicks, who passed away two years ago today, March 25, 1925.
Loving and faithful in all her ways. A beautiful character to the end of her days.
Loving mother true and kind. What a wonderful memory you have left behind.
DAUGHTER, MRS. CHRISTINA WOLFE.

Financial and Commercial
New York, March 25 (P).—Stock prices made further recovery in today's market. While a few soft spots continued to crop out, many stocks rallied one to five points, with food, motion picture, electrical and motor accessory shares giving the best demonstrations of group strength.
The strengthened credit situation as reflected in the weekly statement of the Federal Reserve Banks and reports of improved business conditions exercised a bullish influence. Recurring talk of new combinations also had a stimulating effect. The volume of trading, however, showed a tendency to fall off.
U. S. Steel common crossed 165 to a new high record for all time.
Railway equipments were again under accumulation on reports of new orders from prominent carrier systems. Buying of rails was confined largely to dividend paying shares. Norfolk and Western, in which the Pennsylvania recently increased its minority interest, moved up to a new high. Sharp gains were also recorded by Frisco, New York Central and Canadian Pacific.
Houston Oil recently sold down more than 25 points from the year's high was one of the day's outstanding strong spots, jumping nearly ten points.
Sterling exchange went to a new high level for the year.

Society Notes
Professor and Mrs. Irving Burdick celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary at their home, 205 Down street, Tuesday, March 22. The happy couple received telegrams and letters of congratulation from friends in Arizona, Michigan, Panama, Cuba, Washington, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York and from their many friends in Kingston. Many expressed their kind thoughts of Mr. and Mrs. Burdick by sweet scented flowers which added greatly to the spirit of comfort in the home on the day of their anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Burdick came here from Brooklyn some years ago. While in that city he devoted his time to the instruction and composition of music and continued to do the same after coming to this city. The many friends whom they made throughout the forty years of their married life expressed wishes that they would enjoy many more happy anniversaries which manifests that they have gained a warm place in the hearts of those impressed by their kindness and cheerfulness.

Mother's Cook Book
Home is the resort of love, of joy, of peace and plenty, where supporting and supported, polished friends and dear relations mingle into bliss.—Thompson.
A FEW SOUPS
A GOOD hot soup is not only a good appetizer, but a nourishing beginning to a meal.
Purée of Celery.
Cut two bunches of celery into small pieces and parboil, then drain and fry in butter. Add salt, pepper and nutmeg to season; cover with real stock and simmer one hour. Blend two tablespoonsful of butter with two of flour, add a quart of real stock and the celery and cook until thick; rub through a sieve, reheat, add two cupsful of hot milk, a pinch of sugar and a tablespoonful of butter. Serve with croutons.
Purée à la Créole.
Put into a saucepan a carrot, a turnip and an onion cut fine, two cupsful of beans, two leeks and a small bunch of parsley. Fry the vegetables in butter and dredge with flour, add a can of tomatoes and two quarts of real stock, with a stalk of celery and cook until thick. Rub through a sieve, reheat, season with salt, pepper and a bit of sugar and butter. Add one cupful of cooked peas and one cupful of boiling cream.
Soup Soufflé.
Slice thin two spanish onions and cook ten minutes in one-fourth of a cupful of butter, stirring constantly. Add one quart of white stock and cook slowly for 20 minutes, then strain. Dilute three tablespoonfuls of flour with enough water to pour, add to the soup and bring to the boiling point. Add one cupful of cream, one tablespoonful of chopped green peppers or one-fourth of a cupful of grated cheese. Season with salt and pepper.
Chicken Salad.
Take two cupsful of chicken cut in to small pieces, add one cupful of celery, one cupful of diced cucumber and two tablespoonfuls of capers. Season with salt and pepper and mix with boiled dressing, to which an equal amount of whipped cream has been added. Serve on lettuce.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS
By H. IRVING KING

THE NIGHTMARE
IN MANY sections of the country it is customary for people subject to nightmare to sleep with a pair of scissors or a knife under the pillow as a preventive against the affliction. In some sections they tell you that the nightmare is caused "by an evil spirit struggling with one."
This conception of nightmare as an evil spirit is a conception of primitive man and one which exists in the mimicry of primitive races today, as well as among the superstitions of the civilized peoples. And anyone who has ever experienced nightmare cannot wonder. Shakespeare, in a song in "King Lear," makes St. Withold say when he meets "the nightmare and her ninefold," "Arrolat thee, witch; arrolat thee!" and the first definition of nightmare given by the Century dictionary is "An incubus, or evil spirit that oppresses people during sleep."
Some of us may be content to ascribe our nightmare to a poorly-made Welsh rarebit instead of a witch or an evil spirit but not so our ancestors or our more superstitious neighbors.
In folklore, then, the nightmare being a witch or an evil spirit, what is more potent to keep it away than a piece of cold iron which, as is well known, from the beginning of the Iron age witches and evil spirits have abhorred and feared? The reason for the fear and abhorrence of iron by evil spirits has brought forth much discussion. The belief began when man first tried to work iron ore into a usable metal and from the superstition under consideration, and from numerous other current superstitions, we see that it has not entirely vanished.

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE
BY JOSEPH KATE

At 21: Samuel Inuit Was Edison's Secretary.
"A T ABOUT this time I was engaged as Mr. Edison's private secretary, a position I had long wanted and strived for.
"I had to work in the office all day, look after the financial and business end and very often I would be with Mr. Edison at his laboratory most of the nights. We usually worked about four nights in seven. We seldom worked on Sunday nights but as a rule we were at it during most of Monday and Tuesday nights. By Wednesday night we were so exhausted through lack of sleep that we usually slept the night in bed.
"Thursday and Friday nights saw us busy again until well into the morning. I have known Edison to work night and day ten days on end. He seemed to be able to go without sleep as long as a camel can go without water.
"In the office I was expected to clean up the correspondence with Edison's local agents as a rule as to the character of his answer to make. It was a very common thing for Edison to write the words 'yes' or 'no' and this would be all I had on which to base my answer.—SAMUEL INUIT.
TODAY—Mr. Inuit is head of the Commonwealth Edison company of Chicago, the largest power plant. It is said, for producing electricity in the world and is one of the greatest figures in the financial and business life of this country.
For a job on the side, Mr. Inuit directs the operations of the Chicago Civic Opera association, which is to the West what the Metropolitan Opera company is to the East.

THE YOUNG LADY ACROSS THE WAY

The young lady across the way says that often a seemingly little thing disturbs the whole course of a man's life, and President Coolidge once would have been where he is today if he had not forgotten the Boston policeman's advice.

Roads to Republics
Some countries of South America are planning to build roads instead of railroads to certain of their districts which are at present poorly connected with the rest of the country, thus relying mainly upon water transportation for the future.
The Night Spirit
The spirit of young America is shown by any small boy with a sword. He knows he cannot hope to run over so many people as the others can in their armor suits, but he isn't at all discouraged by that. He goes right ahead and does his best.

School's Distinction
The school of tropical medicine in San Juan, Porto Rico, was opened September 22, 1926. This school has the distinction of being the first college of its kind established in the Americas, although several of the leading medical schools of North and South America have departments devoted to the study of tropical medicine.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION
Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.
Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try saying aside all digestive aids and instead get from nature's drugstore, some Bismuth Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no nausea, gas or pain. Bismuth Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and, in the most efficient form of success for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Poison Liquor in Gray's Suitcase

Bottle of Poison Whiskey Is Found in a Suitcase in Gray's Hotel Room in Syracuse—Contained Bichloride of Mercury.
New York, March 25 (P).—A new light on the seeming mystery concerning a bottle of poison liquor in the Snyder-Gray murder case was cast today by the police when it was announced that the bottle had been found, not in the Snyder home in Queens Village, but in a suitcase in Gray's hotel room in Syracuse.
The sample analyzed contained enough bichloride of mercury to kill a man, and the authorities believe that it had been the intention of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and her paramour, Henry Judd Gray, to use it to cause Albert Snyder's death.
The police believe Gray took it with him from the Snyder home when other means to kill the man had succeeded.
Meantime Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, who discovered the presence of the poison in the whiskey, continued his search for possible traces of other poison in Snyder's organs. No trace of bichloride of mercury, however, had been found in the slain man's body.
Biblical Character
The queen of Sheba was the sovereign whose visit to King Solomon is recorded in I Kings, Chapter X. The Sabaeans, over whom this queen reigned, were the inhabitants of southwestern Arabia, a country now called Yemen. It borders on the Red sea, and is noted for the superior quality of the coffee grown there.

Back to China, Declares Banton

District Attorney Banton Threatens To Send Chinese Back To China By The Shipload.
New York, March 25 (P).—Facing a threat of deportation to their native country, Chinese claimants gathered for a peace conference today in an effort to end a renewal of tong warfare that has already taken eight lives in five American cities.
"Back to China by the shipload, if necessary," was the ultimatum issued by District Attorney Banton to the rival Hip Sing and On Leong tong into conference. The Chinese consul-general also was invited to attend.
Barking guns that marked the end of a two year truce between the Hip Sing and On Leong tongs yesterday brought death to three Chinese in Chicago, two in Brooklyn, one in Newark, one in Pittsburgh, and one in Manchester, Conn.
Two other Chinese were badly wounded.
Characteristic Oriental silence handicapped the police in their hunt for the killers, although forty-five men were arrested. The police said Chinese gunmen are paid $2,000 per killing by the rival tongs.
Pastor Bush At Detroit.

Name Made Infamous

Such was the name of a Free Press club formed at the outbreak of the French revolution in 1792, as reported from the Jacobin committee. France to which the members of the club were held. The club represented the extreme party in the revolution and "was said to have during its brief Reign of Terror." The full Robespierre, its president, in 1793, in its dissolution.

The Object of Education

The entire object of true education is to make people not actively do right things, but enjoy the right thing — not merely instructions, but so to industry — not merely pain, but so to practice — not merely just, but so to know.

The Round of Social Duties

MODERN WOMEN are busy women. The round of social duties and pleasures is an arduous one. Clothes of the right sort can do much to lighten the burden.

Costumes should be smart, serviceable and free from the useless fripperies considered "so feminine" in other days. Our offerings are just that.

And here also, for women who spend their time in places they can be seen, are Gotham Gold Stripe Silk Stockings.

Silk in these stockings is the finest. They are full fashioned. Their reputation for beauty and wear is worldwide.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Some Chicago millionaire is having all the priceless antiques taken out of a chateau in Neuilly, a Paris suburb, and putting in strong up-to-date furniture. He has been engaged to renovate the 20 room chateau, won't say who his client is other than that he has a daughter who recently married and he made a big killing in wheat recently.

Havana—In view of the season possibly the hardships won't be so great for Americans. It is forbidden now by Presidential decree to shake dice for the drinks. Also poker in clubs is taboo.

New York—Flapperism is causing masculine white collar workers to be in great demand. The Y. M. C. A. is unable to meet the demand for male stenographers, typists and secretaries.

Springfield, Mass.—Half the students smoke at Springfield College, which trains boys for Y. M. C. A. work.

New Haven—As Edna Ferber, novelist, views it, when the elimination of sex and alcohol is complete, if this thing goes on in 25 years, it will not be proper to mention bread and raw butter. She gave views on "repression" in a lecture at Yale, with the argument that it is better for the youth of America to be told.

New York—In this now-it-can-be-told style Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris has published a book about Queen Marie's visit. Her reason is that she thinks newspaper accounts of the tour had a "squeint," making an exceedingly great mountain of what she admits was more than a mole hill of friction among the queen's hosts. Anybody who wants to help the Rumanian Red Cross may buy the book and then perhaps won't think the newspapers were so wrong after all.

Norfolk, Conn.—James McLellan thinks he is the champion short motorist. He's four feet two. His car has extension pedals and other thing-a-majigs.

Washing White Woodwork

Enamel paint is dulled by soap. Such paint may be cleaned by rubbing first with a woolen or cotton flannel cloth, wrung out of hot water, and then with a clean dry cloth. Spots, stains and dirt that will not yield to hot water alone, may be removed with a fine scourer. This must be applied lightly in order not to scratch the surface.

SAUGERTIES.

Saugerties, March 24.—A large number attended the roast beef supper in the Congregational Church on Tuesday evening.

The following crew has been selected to work on the steamer Ida of the Saugerties Evening Line during the coming season: C. B. Tiffany, captain; Ellsworth Smith, pilot; E. H. Everett and William Washburn, engineers; Willis Gardner, purser; H. McEnroe, mate; Albert Freese, watchman; William McCarthy, watchman; W. F. Wey, clerk; R. Tetzlaff, quartermaster.

About thirty persons attended the chest clinic held in Firemen's Hall on Wednesday afternoon with two state department doctors in charge. Nurses and assistants also helped in the examinations.

A Sunday school class of the Clinton Avenue Church of Kingston will give a play entitled, "Renting Jimmy" in the lecture room of the M. E. Church here on Friday evening, March 25. The play is under the auspices of the N. O. P. Q. R. group of the Ladies' Aid Society.

The body of Charles Eckert was taken to the Tinty cemetery from the mortuary chapel vault for burial on Tuesday by N. R. Lasher.

The union prayer meeting which was held in the Community House Hall on Thursday evening was led by the Rev. T. L. Leverett and a solo was sung by C. E. Bradley.

Father Flanagan of Phoenix, N. Y., preached the Lenten sermon in St. Mary's Church on Wednesday evening.

Buy Your Hat
Then Build Your Costume
Around It

French women declare this is the only way to go about achieving a harmonious wardrobe and they should know, being famed experts in matters of dress. There are, however, a few words of caution we would interject. In following this plan it is more than ever necessary to choose a hat that is outstandingly correct in every way and very, very becoming too. Our salespeople, trained to study types, wouldn't think of letting you depart with a mode that didn't have both important attributes.

COMPOSE
The Most Important Word
In the Realm of Fashions

Compose, the word which one hears on the tongues of the fashion-wise constantly this season means "to put together"—according to the dictionary. In fashion circles, which is much more to the point, it refers to the smart combination of a demure little jacket and dress or the joining in one fashion of two or more shades or colors.

As usual the more subtle interpretations of the compose made await your approval here.

Indian Princes Prefer Their Shoes Squeaky

Bombay, India.—Squeaky shoes are in great demand by rolling Indian princes and chiefs, who have hit upon this as a means of impressing their barefooted subjects. The louder the shoes squeak the higher the price.
The idea of wearing leather soles which make their presence known with every step of the wearer originated by chance some time ago in the state of Junagadh.
One of the chiefs of the Chusama tribe had purchased a new pair of shoes, and they creaked everlastingly as he strutted among the natives at festival gatherings. His subjects were more humble than ever. Some of the rajahs, ruling princes and the chiefs of numerous principalities have since taken to squeaking shoes, which are worn only upon ceremonial occasions.

Students' Work On Exhibition

Large Attendance of Parents at Kingston High School Where Work of Students in Various Departments Is Displayed.
Thursday night in response to invitations sent out, about 200 parents gathered to view the exhibition of work done by the Kingston High School students.

A short assembly was held and directly afterward the teachers began to view the work of students in English, science, French and Spanish, woodworking, home making, shop, art and commercial subjects.

The English room held books beautifully bound and well written over which students have worked for hours. The walls were lined with themes by first year students and picture of Shakespeare and the modern actors who portray his characters.

The science rooms had experiments, chemical and physical, set up with students notebooks to illustrate.

The live rabbits, goldfish and other animals claimed much of the guests' attention in the biological rooms.

The art room was also a room containing much of interest. The walls were lined with art work done by the students. Several vases were displayed against harmonious backgrounds.

Perhaps the most attention was centered around the machine shop and woodworking department. Some of the students in woodworking were working the machines while others were turning and drawing. In the machine shop the making of a tooth was explained by students who were working the various machines. Exhibits of drawings and blue prints were also well examined.

The guests then centered their attention on the various kitchen utensils and home-making work. In the home making department, pieces made by the girls, lampshades and other articles were exhibited. The home making kitchen was looked over and the exhibits of cake and candy were sampled.

French and Spanish also held an exhibit. The walls were lined with pictures and articles which would illustrate the French and Spanish languages.

The commercial departments exhibit was also favorably commented upon. Shorthand and typewriting students showed how to use typewriters and how to write shorthand. The economic geography exhibit was shown in the form of slides.

Students of all kinds could be procured from Miss Cordes and the proceeds were used to help defray the expenses of the evening.
After the guests had viewed everything and had expressed many favorable comments they were served with refreshments by the cooking class.

In all of the rooms courteous student attendants explained and were ready to assist in making the exhibit a success. Most of the teachers were ready to explain and talk with parents of the school.

The exhibit was a success in every way. The time will soon come when all the rooms will be lighted for an exhibit and a day or the best part of one will be needed to see everything.

Prisma Benefit Concert and Dance

A concert and dance will be held at Kingston High School Saturday, April 9, under the auspices of the Prisma Society which is composed of girls who attend the school.
The concert will be rendered by the Glee Club of Tufts College and the group of singers have a sterling reputation of pleasing all before whom they appear. The college has produced many successful Glee Clubs and prides itself especially in the work accomplished by the present representatives.

For those who like to dance the girls of the Prisma Society will hold a dance in the gym of the high school. The music for dancing will start immediately after the concert and dancing may be enjoyed until 11:30.

The purpose of the concert is to enlarge a fund of $1,000 which the Prisma girls have already raised by holding fairs and selling candy and other articles in the school. They expect the cooperation of their fellow classmates in this event and hope to realize a substantial sum for the worthy cause of helping some girl through college. The society has a "Prisma Scholarship Fund."

The members of the Prisma Society are taught to lend a helping hand wherever necessary and one of their ideals is to radiate kindness and good cheer among their associates. The name of the organization is derived from the article with which all are familiar, the glass prism, which radiates light, and it is the aim of the society's members to act in the same capacity by spreading kindness.

Magazine for Blind
As a result of special presses and other apparatus developed by a blind man, persons who suffer a similar affliction are able to enjoy a monthly magazine. Its first appearance was so successful that it has now been increased to 60 pages and has national circulation. Says Popular Mechanics Magazine, for the first time in their lives many blind subscribers have been able to read advertisements and other matter common to the usual publication. Heretofore most of their reading matter has been limited to books, and in some localities few of these have been obtainable. The magazine is printed in raised characters.

Troy Prepares for Elks' Convention

State Association Convention at Col. City in June Promises to Be Big Affair.—Trojans Adopt Slogan.
Troy, N. Y., March 25.—Delegates and visitors in attendance at the annual convention of the New York State Elks' Association which will be held in this city June 5 to 8 inclusive are in for "the time of their lives", as the expression goes, according to the plans already outlined by the general committee in charge of the arrangements of which William Hutton, Jr., past exalted ruler of Troy Lodge, is chairman. Trojans are proud of the reputation they have acquired for hospitality. Troy Elks are not alone among the "Best People on Earth" but they are most hospitable as well, and they do not intend to let one stone remain unturned to make this one of the greatest conventions the New York State Association has ever held. The last state convention of Elks was held in this city in 1915, and those who attended are still talking about it and planning an "on to Troy" movement for this year. In this they are being aided by the younger generation who have heard much of Troy and want to see what it is all about.

The opening session of the convention to be held Sunday night, June 5, which will be an open one, will be graced by the presence of Charles H. Grakelow, and in all probability Governor Alfred E. Smith, a member of New York Lodge, No. 1, will be in attendance and deliver an address. Sessions of the convention proper will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The program of entertainment is being arranged so as not to conflict with the convention sessions. It embraces special features for the delegates and their ladies, and there will be events in which the general public will be invited to participate.

The parade, for which the usual prizes will be awarded, will be held Wednesday afternoon, June 8, and advance reports to the general committee indicate that this will be an imposing demonstration. Several lodges have already sent word that they will have large delegations in line with their own bands, and the display promises to be a most colorful one.

Troy Lodge has selected as the convention slogan the rather euphonious expression "Troy! Oh Boy!" In itself it is expressive of the enthusiasm and spirit with which the Trojan Elks are going about the work of preparing to receive their brethren from all parts of New York state. And it is guaranteed that when the convention is over and the delegates are back in their respective home towns every mention of the 1927 "racket" will bring forth spontaneously that same expression "Troy! Oh Boy!"

All Cooks Look Alike
At the hungry man, but what a sad disappointment when the "Kitchen Queen" quite suddenly and the table looks anything but appetizing to a satisfied appetite. When in doubt as to what to do, use The Freeman's "Help Wanted" Can-o-Wood Department.
